It was a very interesting time I have spent in University of Tsukuba Hospital. I have observed and learned many new techniques, as well as the way Japanese physicians in general and neurosurgeons and ENT specialists, in specialty, cooperate in skull base tumor surgery, which is not common in Vietnam and in Cho Ray hospital. I realize that team work is very important in medical sector, especially with surgeons. Japanese people live neatly and simple yet modern life. The weather was very nice too. The staffs in UTH were very friendly. I would like to show my sincere thanks to UTH staffs, Dr. Akiyama, Dr. Tanaka, Dr. Akutsu have carefully guided and instructed me during the two weeks I stayed in Japan. I hope will meet you again soon in Cho Ray hospital.
